Welcome to Isis Medicine

In ancient Greco-Roman Mythology, the winged goddess, Isis is recognized as the goddess of motherhood, nature, magic and fertility. She was among the most benevolent of the Egyptian goddesses as she loved all creatures as a mother would love her child.

Like the goddess Isis, here at Isis Medicine, we aim to provide professional, quality care to individuals and families grounded in the principles of nature and nurturing but informed by a plethora of disciplines ranging from mainstream medicine, to alternative medicine and everything in-between.

We subscribe to the belief that the patient should be treated as a whole person and that our primary objective as your healthcare provider is to involve you in a decision-making processes that will lead you on the path to maintain good health. Our role is multi-faceted—we are educators and detectives as well as physicians. We evaluate health and well-being based on an in-depth look at environmental factors, diet, exercise, as well as genetic predisposition and trauma. As Sir William Osler, the “father of modern medicine” once said, “It is more important to know what patient has the disease than to know what disease the patient has.”

Our goal is health maintenance, prevention, and addressing the core imbalances that underlie various disease conditions.

What is Family Practice

Family Practice a medical specialty focusing on continuing, comprehensive health care for all members of the family. The scope of practice encompasses all ages, both sexes, pediatric, obstetrical, gynecological and geriatric care. Through this model of medicine, we are able to treat, not only the whole body, but also the whole family. For a comprehensive list of our services, please click here.
